

Momondo.com wins flight search test at Frommers.com

October 23rd 2007

The Danish flight search engine, Momondo.com, has recently been reviewed by the highly esteemed travel site frommers.com.

"Even for flights within the United States, a Danish-based search engine (yes, a Danish search engine!) seems to come up with the best fares" says Arthur Frommer.

Frommer tested Momondo against other search engines, and concluded that Momondo was generally cheaper.

The face behind Frommers.com, Arthur Frommer, has written almost every fourth travel book sold in USA, and has been dealing with travel for more than 50 years.

Relaunch - October 2007

Momondo.com has relaunched the site; from founding only flight search, to including a wide variety of features.

The site enables users to book hotels, read about various destinations and other features such as flexible dates, and many more; all this in a new delicious wrapping.

For further information, please contact partner Martin Lumbye - ml@momondo.com

<http://www.momondo.com>

More info

The full Frommers review

<http://www.frommers.com/blog/2007/10/even-for-flights-within-united-states.html>

Other sites that wrote about Frommers review

Miami Herald - <http://www.miamiherald.com/986/story/280490.html>

Houston Chronicle - <http://www.chron.com/disp/story.mpl/travel/frommer/5217577.html>