

Copenhagen from Noma + Momondo

The travel site Momondo and the staff from restaurant Noma have joined forces and created a brand new guidebook to Copenhagen. In the guide Noma's staff members share their personal favourite places in Copenhagen. It's a story about all the hidden gems that make Copenhagen so special.

Copenhagen has for years almost been synonymous The Little Mermaid but the city has so much more to offer. In Copenhagen from Momondo + Noma the story about the city is told from new perspectives and many of its hidden gems are revealed.

"Copenhagen is a city in movement. Looking at the city today, it doesn't make an idyllic or orderly impression. If you're strolling through the streets and alleys of Copenhagen on a regular Sunday morning, it's obvious that this is a city which people live in and use. A humble of empty pizza boxes, road mending, and youngsters on their way home after a wild night out. This is also the charm of Copenhagen. It's a city where life is lived. There are stories to be told,"

- Editor, Anne Gry Daugård.

Noma is a melting pot. The restaurant's staff members - who come from all corners of the world - are the fulcrum in the guide where they give a new and exogenous insight into Copenhagen's many facets and unique places.

"We have worked with Momondo on this book because we think it is both fun and relevant. Noma is a Copenhagen-company blessed with a having colleagues from all over the world. Why not share their insider-tips to Copenhagen? Many they experience the city differently and see it from other angles than a local native. It has been a fun process doing this book, where we've discussed and rethought Copenhagen, and we've got to know each other much better"

- Managing Director at Noma, Peter Kreiner.

The guide is a pocket size book designed to be turned and twisted in the hands of the reader when exploring Copenhagen. All places are thoroughly described and plotted on 5 chapter maps as well on a large fold-out map of the entire city. Along with the chapter maps come 5 inspiring routes which include the highlights of Copenhagen's different neighbourhoods.

'Copenhagen from Noma + Momondo' is a practical guide that'll make you feel like an explorer.
